

Sustainability with young children

When exploring sustainability with young children consider their knowledge and ability to connect with the information. Start with looking after the room and respecting the resources and then move out from there to building awareness of caring for the building, community, country and the planet. If children cannot care for their immediate environment they cannot comprehend saving the whales.

